PROJECTS

---

Ruhr-Universität Bochum | Lehrstuhl für Produktionssysteme

Bochum, Germany

Master's Thesis

October 2022 – est. August 2024

- Development and implementation of an innovative AI-based system for detecting assembly steps in manual assembly using advanced computer vision techniques
- Analysis and modeling of human movements and activities using AI algorithms to improve human-machine interaction
- Contribution to the optimization and efficiency enhancement of worker assistance systems through the use of artificial intelligence and machine learning

Cademy GmbH

Ennepetal, Germany

Bachelor's Thesis

August 2021 – March 2022

- Independent development and conception of a mobile, collaborative robot system to increase efficiency in the foaming process of the automotive industry
- Development of an autonomous system for precise detection of tool positions and their openings to increase production flexibility and reduce manual interventions
- Successful construction and testing of a functional prototype that can be used in real industrial environments
